MEMORANDUM OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Law forms part of the scheme for the modernisation of the law relating to judicial powers and procedures which is being carried out in the circumstances of the changed constitutional position in the Islands now that they are no longer linked constitutionally with Jamaica.

Provided that the prosecutor or the counsel for the prosecution and the defendant or his counsel shall have the right to cross-examine any such person, and the court shall adjourn the case for such time (if any) as it thinks necessary to enable such cross-examination to be adequately prepared, if, in its opinion, either party may be prejudiced by the calling of any such person as a witness.

Evidence to be given on oath.

41. Every witness in any criminal cause or matter shall be examined upon oath or affirmation and the court before which any witness shall appear shall have full power and authority to administer the appropriate oath or affirmation in accordance with the provisions of the Evidence Law:

Cap. 49

Provided that the court may at any time, if it thinks it just and expedient (for reasons to be recorded in the proceedings), take without oath the evidence of any person declaring that the taking of any oath whatever is according to his religious belief unlawful, or who by reason of immature age or want of religious belief ought not, in the opinion of the court, to be admitted to give evidence on oath; the fact of the evidence having been so taken shall be recorded in the proceedings.

Refractory witness.

42. (1) Whenever any person, appearing either in obedience to a summons or by virtue of a warrant, or being orally required by the court to give evidence –

- (a) refuses to be sworn; or
- (b) having been sworn, refuses to answer any question put to him; or
- (c) refuses or neglects to produce any document or thing which he is required to produce and which is in his possession or under his control; or
- (d) refuses to sign his deposition, without in any such case offering any sufficient excuse for such refusal or neglect, the court may adjourn the case for any period not exceeding ten days, and may in the meantime commit such person to prison, unless he sooner consents to do what is required of him.

(2) If such person, upon being brought before the court at or before such adjourned hearing, again refuses to do what is required of him, the court may, if it sees fit, again adjourn the case and commit him for a like period, and so again from time to time until such person consents to do what is required of him.

(3) Nothing herein contained shall affect the liability of any such person to any other punishment or proceeding for refusing or neglecting to do what is so required of him, or shall prevent the court from disposing of the case in the meantime according to any other sufficient evidence taken before it.

Procedure where person charged is the only witness called.

43. Where the only witness of the facts of the case called by the defence is the person charged, he shall be called as a witness immediately after the close of the evidence for the prosecution.

Court to inquire into suspected incapacity of accused.

44. Without prejudice to the provisions of sections 149 and 150 (relating to cases in which an accused person on trial on indictment may be found to be insane at the time of arraignment or to have been insane at the date of the offence with which he is charged), when in the course of any trial or preliminary inquiry the court has reason to suspect that the accused person is of unsound mind so that he is incapable of making his defence, the court shall inquire into the fact of such unsoundness and for this purpose may receive evidence and may postpone the proceedings and remand the accused person for a medical report.

Procedure when accused found insane during proceedings.

45. (1) If, in a case referred to in the preceding section, the court finds that the accused person is of unsound mind and incapable of making his defence it shall postpone further proceedings in the case.

(2) If the case is one in which bail may be taken, the court may release the accused person on sufficient surety being given that he will be properly taken care of and prevented from doing injury to himself or to any other person, and for his appearance, if called upon, before the court or any officer of the court appointed in that behalf.

(3) If the case is one in which bail may not be taken or if sufficient surety cannot be given or the court, for any sufficient reason, considers that bail ought not to be granted, the court shall report the matter to the Governor who may order the accused person to be detained in any hospital or other place appointed by any law for the reception or custody of insane persons and the Governor may from time to time make such further order in the case for the detention, treatment or otherwise of the accused as the circumstances may require. Pending the order of the Governor in any such case the court shall direct that the accused person be remanded in custody.

Defence of insanity at preliminary investigation.

46. When an accused person appears to be of sound mind at the time of a preliminary investigation, notwithstanding that it is alleged that, at the time when the act was committed in respect of which the accused person is charged, he was insane within the meaning of the law relating to capacity to commit a criminal offence, the court shall proceed with the case and, if the accused person ought, in the opinion of the court, to be committed for trial before the Grand Court, the court shall so commit him.

Resumption of proceedings if accused ceases to be incapable.

47. Whenever any preliminary investigation or trial is postponed under the provisions of section 44 or 45, the court may at any time resume the preliminary investigation or trial, unless the accused person is detained in pursuance of an order by the Governor given under the provisions of subsection (3) of section 45, and require the accused to appear or be brought before such court, when, if the court finds him capable of making his defence, the preliminary investigation or trial shall proceed, but if the court considers the accused person still to be incapable of making his defence, it shall act as if the accused were brought before it for the first time.

Prima facie evidence of capacity of accused may be given by certificate.

48. If an accused person is confined in a hospital or other place appointed by law for the reception or custody of persons mentally ill, under any order made in exercise of any power conferred by this Code, and the medical practitioner in charge of such hospital or place certifies that the accused person is capable of making his defence, the Governor may order that such accused person shall be taken before the court having jurisdiction in the case to be dealt with according to law, and the certificate of such medical practitioner shall be receivable by the court as prima facie evidence of the capacity of the accused person.

Provisions relating to the taking of evidence.

49. (1) Except as may be otherwise provided by any law, all evidence taken in any inquiry or trial under this Code shall be taken in the presence of the accused unless with his consent his absence has been dispensed with in accordance with the provisions of this Code.

(2) All evidence shall be recorded in English and if any evidence is given in any other language it shall be interpreted; and in the case of any documents tendered in evidence which are written in a foreign language a translation shall be provided. Any interpretation or translation shall be made by a person appointed or approved for the purpose by the court.

(3) If the accused does not understand English any evidence given shall be interpreted to him in a language which he understands.

For the purposes of this section the consent of the accused person to the conduct of the trial in his absence may be deemed to have been given in a case in which he enters a written plea of guilty under the provisions of any law or in any case in which the court is satisfied that, having been duly summoned to appear before the court a reasonable time before the date appointed, the accused person wilfully refuses to attend at any time appointed by the court.

(2) Every person accused of any criminal offence, whether present in person or absent in accordance with the provisions of this section, may be defended before any court by a legal practitioner.

PART IV

Procedure in trials before the Summary Court

Non-appearance of complainant at trial.

58. If, in any case which the Summary Court has jurisdiction to hear and determine, the accused person appears at the time and place appointed in the summons for the hearing of the case, or is brought before the court under arrest, then, if the complainant, having had notice of the time and place appointed for the hearing of the charge, does not appear, either in person or by counsel or other person authorised to represent him, the court shall dismiss the charge, unless for some reason the court shall think proper to adjourn the hearing of the case to some other date, upon such terms as it shall think fit, in which event it may, pending such adjourned hearing, either admit the accused to bail or remand him in custody, or take such security for his appearance as the court shall think fit.

Non-appearance of defendant at the trial.

59. If at the same time and place of hearing appointed in a summons an accused person does not appear, and it be proved that the summons was duly served a reasonable time before the time appointed for his appearance, and if the court is satisfied on any sufficient evidence that the accused has wilfully refused to attend or otherwise may be deemed to have consented to the trial taking place in his absence, the court may either proceed to adjudicate on the case as if the accused had appeared or, if the court is not satisfied that the accused has so consented or considers that it is inexpedient for any other reason that the trial should proceed in the absence of the accused, the court may issue a warrant for the arrest of the accused in accordance with the provisions of section 20 and may adjourn the trial to some other date.

When neither party appears.

60. If at the time and place appointed for a trial under this Part neither party appears, the court may dismiss or adjourn the case as shall seem fit.

Court to have the same powers at adjourned hearing as at first hearing.

61. At the time and place appointed for any adjourned hearing, the Summary Court shall have the same powers to proceed with, dismiss or adjourn the case as if the complaint was before the court for the first time.

Appearance of both parties.

62. (1) If both parties appear, the court shall proceed to hear the case and the substance of the charge or complaint shall be read to the accused person by the court and he shall be asked whether he admits or denies it.

(2) In a case in which the accused is a corporation, it shall be sufficient if the corporation appears by a representative appointed in writing purporting to be signed by a person (by whatever name called) having, or being one of the persons having the management of the affairs of the corporation.

If accused pleads guilty.

63. If the accused person admits the charge, his admission shall be recorded and the court shall convict him and pass sentence upon or make an order against him unless, after hearing anything which may be said by or on behalf of the accused, whether in mitigation or otherwise, there shall appear to the court to be sufficient cause to the contrary.

Pleas in other cases.

64. If the accused person pleads not guilty, the court shall proceed to try the case as hereinafter provided. If the accused person refuses to plead, the court shall direct that a plea of not guilty be entered for him, or in an appropriate case may act in accordance with the provisions of section 44.

Procedure after plea of not guilty.

65. If the accused person does not admit the truth of the charge, the court shall proceed to hear the witnesses for the prosecution. The accused person or his counsel may cross-examine each witness called by the prosecution and if the accused person is not represented by counsel the court shall, at the close of the examination of each witness for the prosecution, ask the accused person whether he wishes to put any question to that witness and shall record his answer.

Acquittal of accused person if no case to answer.

66. If at the close of the case for the prosecution the court considers that, subject to any fresh matter which might be revealed in the conduct of the defence, the prosecution ^{has established a prima facie case} ~~case has been established~~, the court shall, if no defence is offered, convict the accused, but, if the court considers that ^{a prima facie case} ~~the prosecution has not established its case~~ and the accused offers no defence, or submits that there is no case to answer, the court shall acquit the accused.

The defence.

67. (1) At the close of the evidence in support of the charge, if it appears to the court that a prima facie case is made out against the accused person the court shall again where the case is not defended by Counsel explain the substance of the charge to the accused and shall inform him that he has a right to give evidence on oath from the witness box and that, if he does so, he will be liable to cross-examination, or to make a statement not on oath from the dock, in which case he will not be liable to cross-examination; and the court shall ask him whether he has any witnesses to examine or other evidence to adduce in his defence, and shall then hear the accused and his witnesses (if any).

(2) If the accused person states that he has witnesses to call but that they are not present in court, and the court is satisfied that the absence of such witnesses is not due to any fault or neglect of the accused person and that there is a likelihood that they could, if present, give material evidence on behalf of the accused person, the court shall adjourn the trial and issue process or take other steps, as necessary, to compel the attendance of such witnesses.

Evidence in reply.

68. If the accused person adduces evidence in his defence introducing new matter which the prosecutor could not reasonably have foreseen, the court may allow the prosecutor to adduce evidence in reply to rebut the said new matter.

Opening and closing of cases for prosecution and defence.

69. (1) Subject to the provisions of subsection (2), the prosecutor shall be entitled to address the court at the commencement of his case, and the accused person or his counsel shall be entitled to address the court at the commencement and in conclusion of his case.

(2) If the accused person, or any one of several accused persons adduces any evidence, the prosecutor shall be entitled to address the court again, prior to the closing address if any, of the accused person or persons or his or their counsel.

Amendment of charge and variance between charge and evidence.

70. (1) Where, at any stage of a trial it appears to the court that the charge is defective, either in substance or in form, the court may make such order for the alteration or addition of a charge, as the court thinks necessary to meet the circumstances of the case:

B		83(1)	Abuse of office	Two years

Provided that where a charge is altered, added or substituted as aforesaid, the court shall thereupon call upon the accused person to plead to the altered or new charge:

Provided further that in such case the accused person shall be entitled, if he so wishes, to have the witnesses (or any of them) recalled to give evidence afresh or to be further cross-examined by the defence, and, in such last mentioned event, the prosecution shall have the right to re-examine any such witness on matters arising out of such further cross-examination.

(2) Variance between a charge and the evidence adduced in support of it with respect to the day upon which the alleged offence was committed is not ordinarily material and the charge need not be amended for such variance if it is proved that the proceedings were in fact instituted within the time (if any) limited by law for the institution thereof and the actual date is not material on any other ground.

(3) Where an alteration, addition or substitution of a charge is made under subsection (1) or there is a variance between the evidence and the charge as described in subsection (2), the court shall, if it is of the opinion that the accused has been thereby misled or deceived or may be prejudiced in the conduct of his defence, adjourn the trial for such period as may be reasonably necessary in the interest of justice.

The decision of the court.

71. The court having heard both the prosecutor and the accused person and their witnesses shall either convict the accused and pass sentence upon or make an order against him according to law or shall acquit him, at its discretion, or may with or without recording a conviction, if it is of the opinion that it is not expedient to inflict any punishment notwithstanding that it finds the charge against the accused is proved, make an order discharging the accused absolutely or conditionally. 784

Drawing up conviction.

72. If the court convicts the accused person, a minute or memorandum thereof shall be then made and the conviction shall afterwards be drawn up by the magistrate under his hand.

Acquittal of accused person to bar further proceedings.

73. If the court acquits the accused person the magistrate shall, when requested to do so, make an order for the dismissal of the charge and give the accused person a certificate thereof which subject to the provisions of sections 30, 31 and 32 shall without further proof be a bar to any subsequent charge for the same matter against the same person.

Limitation of time for proceedings for summary offences.

74. Except where a longer time is specially allowed by law, no offence which is triable summarily shall be triable by a Summary Court unless the charge or complaint relating to it is laid within six months from the date on which evidence sufficient to justify proceedings came to the actual or constructive knowledge of a competent complainant:

Provided that if the circumstances giving rise to the complaint or charge occurred upon a vessel upon the high seas, then the court shall have jurisdiction in respect thereof if the complaint or charge was laid within six months after the arrival of the vessel at her port of discharge in the Islands.

Power of court in cases triable both summarily and on indictment.

75. If, during the course of a trial before a Summary Court, in any case which may be tried summarily or on indictment it appears to the magistrate that the case is one which ought to be tried on indictment, the court may, upon application made by the prosecution or the accused person, stay all further proceedings in respect of the trial and in lieu therefor may hold a preliminary inquiry in accordance with the provisions of this Code.

Special procedure in minor cases where the charge is admitted.

76. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Code, but subject to the provisions of any directions given by the Judge under the provisions of subsection (1) of section 50, a magistrate may in any case in which the accused person admits the offence record the proceedings in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(2) In a case to which this section applies it shall be sufficient compliance with the requirements of this Code relating to the manner of recording of evidence if the magistrate, when the accused makes a statement admitting the truth of the charge, instead of recording the accused person's statement in full, enters in the record a plea of guilty, and it shall be sufficient compliance with the provisions of section 52 relating to the contents of the judgment, if the judgment of the court consists only of the finding, the specific offence to which it relates and the sentence or other order:

Provided that a magistrate may be required by the Grand Court to state in writing the reasons for his decision in any particular case.

- (i) an order acquitting the accused; or
- (ii) an order discharging the accused.

(3) An order discharging the accused under paragraph (b) (ii) of subsection (2) shall not operate as a bar to subsequent proceedings against the accused person on account of the same facts.

PART V

Procedure for committal of accused for trial before the Grand Court.

Power to commit for trial.
Cap. 49. Law 10 of 1975.

80. Subject to the provisions of this Code, of the Evidence Law and of the Summary Jurisdiction Law, a Summary Court may commit any person for trial before the Grand Court.

Court to hold preliminary inquiry.

81. Whenever any charge has been brought in a Summary Court against any person in respect of an offence -

- (a) not triable summarily; or
- (b) which may be tried either summarily or on indictment and which the prosecution or the accused person desires to have tried on indictment, the court shall hold a preliminary inquiry subject to the provisions of this Code and of the Evidence Law.

Cap. 49.

Magistrate to read charge to accused and explain purpose of the proceedings.

82. A magistrate conducting a preliminary inquiry shall, at the commencement of such inquiry, read over and explain to the accused person the charge in respect of which the inquiry is being held and shall explain to the accused person that he will have an opportunity later on in the inquiry, if he so desires, of making a statement or calling witnesses (or both) and shall further explain to the accused person the purpose of the proceedings, namely to determine whether there is sufficient evidence to put him on his trial before the Grand Court.

Taking of depositions.

83. (1) When an accused person is brought before a Summary Court, whether on summons, warrant or otherwise, charged with an offence in respect of which a preliminary inquiry is to be held the magistrate shall, in the presence of the accused, take down in writing, or cause to be taken down in writing, the statements on oath of witnesses called in support of the charge by the prosecution.

Such statements shall be deemed to be and are hereafter in Law 19 of 1965. (In part).

Section 7 and the schedule of the Finger Prints Law, 1964 (Law No. 19 of 1965).

Transitional.

187. Anything done under or in exercise of any power conferred, or any procedure prescribed, by any of the provisions of any law repealed by this Code, in relation to any criminal cause or matter pending before any court at the date of commencement of this Code, shall be deemed to have been done under or in exercise of the power conferred, or the procedure prescribed, by the equivalent provisions of this Code. Nothing which would have been validly done in relation to any such criminal cause or matter as aforesaid shall be held to be invalid or defective by reason only of the repeal of any such law or any part or provision thereof, and any such criminal cause or matter may be continued as if it has been commenced under the provisions of this Code.

Removal of difficulties.

188. If any difficulty shall arise in bringing into operation any of the provisions of this Code, or in respect of the transition to the procedure provided by this Code from the procedure in relation to criminal proceedings in force immediately before the date of commencement of this Code, the Judge may issue directions, either generally or in respect of any particular case or class of cases, as to the procedure to be followed, as may seem to him to be necessary for removing such difficulty.

Seizure of property obtained by offence.

182. (1) Any court may order the seizure of any property which there is reason to believe has been obtained by or is the proceeds or part of the proceeds of any offence, or into which the proceeds of any offence have been converted, and may direct that the same shall be kept or sold and that the same, or the proceeds thereof if sold, shall be held as such court directs until some person establishes a right thereto to the satisfaction of such court. If no person establishes such a right within twelve months from the date of such seizure, the property, or the proceeds thereof, shall vest in the Financial Secretary for the use of the Islands and shall be disposed of accordingly.

(2) Any court may order the seizure of any instruments, materials or things which there is reason to believe are provided or prepared or being prepared with a view to the commission of any offence and may direct them to be held and dealt within the same manner as property seized under subsection (1).

(3) Any order made under this section may be enforced by means of a search warrant which, upon being satisfied by evidence on oath that there is reasonable cause for the issue of such warrant, any such court is hereby authorised to issue for the purpose.

Copies of proceedings.

183. If any person affected by any order made or judgment passed in any proceedings under this Code desires to have a copy of such order or judgment, or of any deposition or other part of the record in any such proceedings, he shall, upon making application for such copy, be furnished therewith, provided he pays for the same according to such scale as may be prescribed unless in any particular case the court directs that it be furnished free of cost.

Repeals.
Cap. 29.
Law 6 of 1972.

186. The following laws are repealed –
The Criminal Justice (Administration) Law (Cap. 29)
The Search Warrant Law (Law No. 6 of 1972)

this Code referred to as depositions, and shall ordinarily be taken down in narrative form, unless the magistrate deems it expedient in any particular case to record the evidence or any part of the evidence in the form of question and answer.

(2) The accused person or any legal practitioner appearing on his behalf shall be entitled to cross-examine any such witness and the answers of a witness thereto shall form part of the depositions of such witness.

(3) If the accused person is not represented by a legal practitioner, the magistrate shall, at the close of the examination of each witness for the prosecution, ask the accused person whether he wishes to put any question to that witness.

(4) As soon as the deposition of a witness taken down under this section is completed, it shall be read over to him in the presence of the accused and, subject to the provisions of subsection (5) shall, if necessary, be corrected.

(5) If any witness denies the correctness of any part of the deposition when the same is read over to him, the magistrate may, instead of altering the deposition as written down, make a memorandum thereon of the objection made to it by the witness and shall add any remarks as to the matter as he thinks necessary.

(6) If a statement is made by a witness in a language other than that in which it is taken down and the witness does not understand the language in which it is taken down, it shall be interpreted to him in a language which he understands, and the identity of the interpreter shall be recorded thereon by the magistrate.

(7) The deposition of each witness shall upon completion be signed by the witness, or attested by his mark, and by the magistrate before whom it was taken.

3/86
Variance between evidence and charge.

New 5.83A "Commitment for trial on written statements."
84. No objection to a charge, summons or warrant for defect in substance or in form, or for variance between it and the evidence for the prosecution, shall be allowed at a preliminary inquiry; but if any variance appears to the court to be such that the accused person has been thereby deceived or misled, the court may, on the application of the accused person, adjourn the inquiry or may allow any witness to be recalled and such questions to be put to him as by reason of the terms of the charge may have been omitted.

Remand.

85. (1) If, from the absence of witnesses or any other sufficient cause to be recorded in the proceedings, the court considers it necessary or advisable to postpone the commencement of or to adjourn the inquiry, the court may from time to time by warrant remand the accused for a reasonable time, not exceeding eight clear days at any one time, to some prison or other place of security; or, if the remand is not for more than three days, the court may by word of mouth order the officer or person in whose custody the accused person is, or any other fit officer or person, to continue to keep the accused in his custody, and to bring him up at the time appointed for the commencement or continuance of the inquiry.

(2) During a remand the court may at any time order the accused to be brought before it and, subject to the provisions of section 27, may on a remand at any time admit the accused to bail:

Provided that the court shall grant no remand or sequence of remands exceeding in all fifteen clear days, otherwise than at the request of or with the consent of the prosecutor.

Provisions as to taking statements of evidence of accused person.

86. (1) If, after the examination of the witnesses called on behalf of the prosecution, the court considers that on the evidence as it stands there are sufficient grounds for committing the accused for trial, the magistrate shall satisfy himself that the accused understands the charge and shall ask the accused whether he wishes to make a statement in his defence or not, and if he wishes to make a statement, whether he wishes to make it on oath or not.

(2) Everything which the accused person says, either by way of statement or evidence, shall be recorded in full and shall be shown or read over to him, and he shall be at liberty to explain or add to anything contained in the record thereof.

(3) The record of the accused's statement shall be attested by the magistrate, who shall certify that such statement or evidence was taken in his presence and hearing and contains accurately the whole statement made, or evidence given, as the case may be, by the accused person. The accused person shall sign, or attest by his mark, such record. If he refuses, the court shall add a note of his refusal, and the record may be used as if he had signed or attested it.

Where conviction confirmed, warrant may issue as though no appeal had been made.

178. (1) Whenever the decision of a Summary Court is confirmed on appeal the Clerk of the Court shall inform the Summary Court of such confirmation, and thereupon the Summary Court may issue a warrant of distress, or commitment, or writ of execution, as the case may be, for enforcing such decision in the same manner as though no appeal had been brought.

(2) Whenever the decision is not confirmed, the Clerk of the Court shall send to the Summary Court, for entry in the register of that Court and shall also endorse on the conviction, order or judgment appealed against, a memorandum of the decision of the appellate court, and whenever any copy or certificate of such conviction, judgment or order is made, a copy of such memorandum shall be added thereto, and shall be sufficient evidence of the decision on appeal in every case where such copy or certificate would be sufficient evidence of such conviction, order or judgment.

- (b) to be of good behaviour toward any particular person; and the court may make an order adjudging the person complained against to enter into recognisances and find sureties in that behalf, and the complainant and defendant and witnesses may be called and examined and cross-examined, and the parties and witnesses in such case shall be subject to all the provisions of this Code relating to trial before such court.

Costs.

173. The court hearing any appeal may make such order as to the costs to be paid by either party as it may think just:

Provided that no magistrate shall be liable to any costs in respect of any appeal against his decision.

Where appeal is abandoned court may give respondent his costs.

174. Where an appeal is abandoned or withdrawn the court, on proof of notice of appeal having been given to the respondent, may make an order that the respondent shall receive such costs as the court may allow.

No appeal on point of form or matter of variance.

175. No judgment shall be given in favour of the appellant if the appeal is based on an objection to any charge, complaint, summons or warrant for any alleged defect therein in matter of substance or for any variance between such charge, complaint, summons or warrant and the evidence adduced in support thereof, unless it be proved that such objection was raised before the Summary Court.

Court may decide on merits notwithstanding any defect in forms.

176. In any case of appeal the court may hear and determine the case upon the merits, notwithstanding any defect in form or otherwise in the conviction, order or judgment, and if the appellant is found guilty the conviction, order or judgment shall be confirmed and, if necessary, amended.

Defect in order or warrant of commitment not to render void.

177. No conviction or order shall for want of form be quashed or removed by certiorari into the Grand Court, and no warrant or commitment shall be held void by reason of any defect therein, if it be therein alleged that the party has been convicted or ordered to do or abstain from doing any act or thing required to be done or left undone, and there be a good and valid conviction or order to sustain the same.

Evidence and address in defence.

87. (1) Immediately after complying with the requirements of section 86, relating to the statement or evidence of the accused person, and whether the accused person has or has not made a statement or given evidence, the magistrate shall ask him whether he desires to call witnesses on his own behalf.

(2) The magistrate shall take the evidence of any witnesses called by the accused person in like manner as in the case of the witnesses for the prosecution, and every such witness, not being merely a witness to the character of the accused person, shall be bound by recognisance to appear and give evidence at the trial of such accused person.

(3) If the accused person states that he has witnesses to call, but that they are not present in court, and the magistrate is satisfied that the absence of such witnesses is not due to any fault or neglect of the accused person, and that there is a likelihood that they could if present give material evidence on behalf of the accused person, the magistrate shall adjourn the inquiry and issue process, or take other steps, to compel the attendance of such witnesses, and on their attendance shall take their depositions and bind them by recognisance in the same manner as witnesses under subsection (2).

(4) In any preliminary inquiry under this Part the accused person or his counsel (if any) shall be at liberty to address the court —

- (a) after the examination of the witnesses called on behalf of the prosecution; or
- (b) if no witnesses for the defence are to be called, immediately after the statement or evidence of the accused person; or
- (c) if witnesses for the defence are called, immediately after the evidence of such witnesses.

(5) If the accused person or his counsel addresses the court in accordance with the provisions of subsection (4) the prosecution shall have the right of reply.

(6) Where the accused person reserves his defence, or at the conclusion of any statement in answer to the charge or evidence in defence, as the case may be, the magistrate shall ask him whether he intends to call witnesses at the trial, other than any whose evidence has been taken under the provisions of this section, and, if so, whether he desires to give their names and addresses so that they may be summoned. The magistrate shall thereupon record the names and addresses of any such witnesses whom he may mention.

Discharge of accused person.

88. If, at the close of the case for the prosecution, or after hearing any evidence in defence, the magistrate considers that the evidence against the accused person is not sufficient to put him on his trial, the court shall forthwith order him to be discharged as to the particular charge under inquiry; but such discharge shall not be a bar to any subsequent charge in respect of the same facts:

Provided that nothing contained in this section shall prevent the court from proceeding either forthwith, or after such adjournment of the inquiry as may seem expedient in the interests of justice, to investigate any other charge upon which the accused person may have been summoned or otherwise brought before it, or which, from the evidence given in the course of the hearing of the charge so dismissed as aforesaid, it may appear that the accused person has committed.

Summary adjudication in certain cases.

89. If at the close of or during the preliminary inquiry, it shall appear to the court that the offence is of such a nature that it may suitably be dealt with under the powers possessed by the court and is not a case in which the accused, having a right to elect to be tried on indictment has so elected, the court may, subject to the other provisions of this Code, hear and finally determine the matter and either convict the accused person or dismiss the charge:

Provided that in every such case the accused shall be entitled to have recalled for further examination all witnesses whom he may require.

Committal for trial
Cap. 49.

90. (1) Subject to the provisions of the Evidence Law, if the court considers the evidence sufficient to put the accused person on his trial, the court shall commit him for trial at the next session of the Grand Court and shall, until the trial, either admit him to bail or send him to prison for safekeeping. The warrant of such first-named court shall be sufficient authority for the detention of the person therein named by the officer in charge of any prison.

(2) In the case of a corporation the court may, if it considers the evidence sufficient to put the accused corporation on trial, make an order authorising the Attorney-General to file an indictment against such corporation, and for the purposes of this Code any such order shall be deemed to be a committal for trial.

Appeal not a re-hearing unless the court so decides.

168. On an appeal by motion, unless the Court considers the justice of the case required a re-hearing, the appellant shall begin, and unless he satisfies the Court that it is necessary to call on the respondent, the conviction, order or judgment shall be confirmed:

Provided that, if the Court directs a re-hearing the respondent, if the issue is with him, shall begin and prove his case, and the Court may, if the justice of the case requires it, adjourn the hearing to some convenient day.

Procedure of hearing of appeal.

169. At the hearing of an appeal on motion, the appellant shall, before going into the case, state all the grounds of appeal on which he intends to rely, and shall not, unless by leave of the court, go into any matters not raised by such statement, nor shall he be entitled to examine any witnesses not examined at the hearing of the case before the Summary Court unless he has given to the respondent three clear days' notice in writing of the names and addresses of such witnesses and of the substance of the evidence they will give and unless he has subsequently obtained the leave of the court to the examination thereof.

Court on hearing appeal to decide on facts as well as law.

170. On an appeal by motion the court may draw inferences of fact from the evidence given before a Summary Court, and, subject to the due notice having been given as hereinbefore mentioned, may hear any further evidence tendered by the appellant, and may take and admit, if it thinks fit, any further evidence tendered in reply and also such other evidence as it may require, and it may decide the appeal with reference both to matters of fact and to matters of law.

On appeal court confined to facts and evidence stated therein.

171. On appeal by special case the court shall entertain such appeal on the ground only that the decision of the Summary Court was erroneous in points of law, or in excess of jurisdiction, and upon the facts stated and the evidence mentioned in the special case. The court may remit the case to the Summary Court for amendment or restatement if necessary, or for re-trial and determination in accordance with such directions as may be deemed necessary.

to the Clerk of the Court who, on application of either party shall supply such applicant with a copy of the case stated on payment for the same of any prescribed charge.

(2) A case stated under the provisions of this section, in addition to any other matter which appears to the magistrate to be relevant, shall set out -

- (a) the charge, summons, information or complaint in respect of which the proceedings arose;
- (b) the facts found by the Summary Court to be admitted or proved;
- (c) any submission of law made by or on behalf of the complainant during the trial or inquiry;
- (d) any submission of law made by or on behalf of the accused person during the trial or inquiry;
- (e) the finding and, in the case of conviction, the sentence of the Summary Court;
- (f) any question of law which the magistrate or any of the parties desires to be submitted for the opinion of the Grand Court; and
- (g) any questions of law which the Attorney-General may require to be submitted for the opinion of the Grand Court.

Appellant entitled to copies of evidence.

166. On an appeal by motion the appellant on serving written notice on, or giving oral notice to the Summary Court of his intention to appeal, and on entering into recognisances as aforesaid shall be entitled to receive with all convenient speed a copy of the evidence taken by the court in the case, and also a copy of the conviction, order or judgment made or given. A copy of the evidence and of the conviction, order or judgment shall also be supplied by the Summary Court to the respondent as soon as the appellant has complied with the requirements of section 160.

Court to set appeal down for argument.

167. The Grand Court shall in either case set the appeal down for hearing on such day, and shall cause notice of the same to be published in such manner, as the court may direct:

Provided that, except when otherwise agreed by the parties, not less than five days' notice shall be given by the court, of the date appointed for the hearing of an appeal.

Complainant and witness to be bound over.
Cap. 49.

91. When an accused person is committed for trial before the Grand Court, subject to the provisions of this Code and of the Evidence Law, with regard to witnesses who are about to leave the Islands or who are ill, the court committing him shall bind by recognisance, with or without sureties as the court may deem requisite, the complainant and every witness to appear at the trial to prosecute or to prosecute and give evidence or to give evidence, as the case may be, and also to appear and give evidence, if required at any further examination concerning the charge which may be held by direction given by the Attorney-General under section 101:

Provided that if the complainant is acting on behalf of the Crown, the Attorney-General, the Commissioner of Police or any department of the Government or is a public officer acting in his official capacity he shall not be required to be bound by any recognisance or to give any security.

Refusal to be bound over.

92. If a person refuses to enter into such recognisance, the court may commit him to prison or into the custody of any officer of the court, there to remain until after the trial, unless in the meantime he enters into a recognisance. If afterwards, from want of sufficient evidence or other cause, the accused is discharged, the court shall order that the person imprisoned for so refusing be also discharged.

Accused person entitled to copy of depositions.

93. A person who has been committed for trial before the Grand Court shall be entitled at any time before the trial to have a copy of the depositions without payment.

Binding over of witnesses conditionally.

94. (1) Where any person charged before a Summary Court with an offence triable upon indictment before the Grand Court is committed for trial, and it appears to the court after taking into account anything which may be said with reference thereto by the accused or the prosecutor, that the attendance at the trial of any witness who has been examined before it is unnecessary by reason of anything contained in any statement by the accused person, or of the evidence of the witness being merely of a formal nature, the court shall, if the witness has not already been bound over, bind him over to attend the trial conditionally upon notice given to him and not otherwise, or shall, if the witness has already been bound over, direct that he shall be treated as having been bound over, to attend only conditionally

(2) If it appears, before or upon arraignment, that an ac-for the prosecution.
